Are you seeing the wireless?

If the single cpu icon has a red X on it –you are not connected to the wireless router.

Right click on the icon and click on "View wireless network.

Another window (like above will open) Find your wireless router; the last number is usually the grade level. Highlight that one and click the CONNECT button on the bottom right.